

We met by chance
Amidst song and dance.
Nothing to enhance
The modest romance,
Save your beautiful glance
Which did entrance.

Yet everything clicked
Like none could predict.
One can't contradict
Or even depict
The love we afflict—
I'm addicted to it.

Never felt this way,
Though how, I can't say.
Not a thing could delay
This inspired display
Of feel and disarray,
Of passionate play.

And now, I can see
What I've missed all this time--
So it fits to a tee
When your hand is in mine.

It was no small feat
When you entranced me that night.
I'm no complete
When you're not alright.

I can only hope
That you'll accept my feelings.
Without you, I can't cope
Without you, I'm left bleeding.

To sum it all up into one simple phrase,
When I think about you, my heart bursts into blaze.

When, hey
You're away
And I'm ruing the day
Glad I knew you then,
Cuz you're a hell of a friend,
And I'll see you again,
Just can't wait until then.

I can't hide
From my pride
Cuz without you by my side
It's pissed and it's dying,
Sick of the lying,
And all the denying;
When it's with you, it's flying.

Melodies
Breaking free
From inside of me
Not something you can steal
--They seems so ethereal--
They're all I can feel...
Can't believe this is real.

Like a wish,
Like a kiss,
Lost in sorrowful bliss
You can't be some fling,
When your absence so stings.
Still dreaming of your wings...
With you, my heart sings.